THE TOBACCO DOES NOT SPILL OUT

Good tobaccos... real good tobaccos... that's the reason for Lucky Strike's fine, smooth quality. We use only the center leaves of the finest Turkish and domestic tobacco plants. Not the top leaves—because those are underdeveloped. Not the bottom leaves-because those are inferior in quality. We use only the center leaves-because these are the mildest leaves—fully ripe for perfect smoking. Only these choice tobaccos are used to make Luckies -so round, so firm, so fully packed-and no loose ends to spill out. That's why Luckies are always mild and smooth. That's why always "Luckies please". And don't forget-"It's toasted"-for throat protection-for finer taste.

SOME SHRIMP DISHES

THERE is nothing more tasty than I fresh shrimp, but with the canned variety one may always be sure it.is wholesome and ready to eat. Shrimps should be rinsed as soon as taken from the can. Split down the back juice from the can.

Shrimp Salad.

Rinse and chill the shrimps and place on crisp lettuce leaves. The curled leaves of the head lettuce make a most attractive nest. Place five or six shrimps for each serving. For salad dressing prepare a snappy french dressing, adding a bit of chopped celery, a dash of worcestershire sauce and a drop of tabasco. Serve the salad at once after pouring over the dressing, as it wilts the lettuce if allowed to stand.

Another saiad: Arrange the shrimps around a mound of mayonnaise in the center, on lettuce. On top of the mayonnaise place a ring of green pepper; in the ring, straight up. stick a tuft of tender celery tips: around the pepper on the mayonnaise. place six or eight capers. Serve from Shrimp Wiggle.

Sift two cans of shrimps into two cupfuls of white sauce. When well heated through pour over rounds of hot buttered toard. Sprinkle over each a few hot seasoned peas and serve. One may arrange the toast around the platter and have the peas in a mound in the center.

Shrimp Fricasses.

Rinse and prepare two caus of shrimps. Prepare a pint of white maure to which a few dashes of cayenne is added; when boiling bot and smooth add the shrimps, broken into small pieces, a few drops of worcestershire sauce. Remove from the fire. add one egg yolk beaten and several spoonfuls of thick cream, add one teaspoonich of lemon juice and serve on triangles of toast. If the cream is pour the lemon juice may be omitted. 6. 1992, Western Newspaper Union.

THE NEW DEBT.

The prospect of a national debt amounting to nearly $32,000,000,000 by the middle of 1905 is not pleasant. That is more than $6,000,000,2 000 above the World War peak, reached in 1919. Incidentally the new wave of public debt into which the country has been swept by the most disastrous depression in history may be regarded as a backwash from that war. It has come largely from the economic conditions created by the war, though its ultimate causes removing tonsils had "gone out of were farther back, starting perhaps fashion," and she was wondering with the invention of Watt's steam | whether tonsils should ever be reengine a century and a haif ago.

The war involved our government in expenditures far more vast than ly, because a huge tonsil may be any yet suggested for fighting the depression. The government spent about $14,000,000,000 in the fiscal year of 1918 and more than $18,000,- eased. 000,000 the following year. The war has cost us altogether, up to date, ing the records of thousands of more than $40,000,000,000; and in- cases of tonsil operations as recordterest, pensions, veterans' care and ed by outstanding members of the profession, says: "There is no doubt other expenses entailed by it will in the minds of responsible observdrag on till the end of the present ers that diseased tonsils should be century. Another way to bear it is to regard this new debt as a practical business come during the five years preceding operation until it is over; the depression was more than $80,-000,000,000 a year. Recently it has sunk to about half that much. So removed. we have been losing something like $40,000.000,000 a year. If spending half of that sum in emergency measures would lift us half way up to where we were before, we could break even in one year. STROKES OF GENIUS

L- SAMUEL INSTRUM & AURED PARKER

WHEN he was nine years old, Dante Alighieri met Beatrice Portinari, also nine years of age. Although she later married someone else and he rarely saw her, this idealized love of his early life inspired one of the most magnificent works of all time, "The Divine Comedy."

The first part of the epic relates the poet's adventures in the Inferno. Dante is escorted by the poet Virgil through the Gates of Hell, with their inscription, "Leave all hope behind, ye who enter here." On the way down into the cone-shaped Inferno, he encounters many illustrious and notorious persons -popes, kings, warriors and poets. At the bottom of the pit sits Lucifer, fixed at the center of the earth.

The entire "Divine Comedy" occupied Dante for the last seven years of his life, from 1314 to 1321. Born in Florence in a time of strife, the greatest of Italian poets was exiled at 37 because of his political activities. He never saw his native city again, but spent his remaining nineteen years wandering through Italy and France.

Poultry World

(By Irving J. Kauder, New Paltz.) the modern poultry world is just in excess of 225 eggs per year. Eggs now more quality conscious than it of the type as outlined above. This has ever been. This has been production must be coupled with the brought about by absolute necessity, months of the year, not fair weather due to the last few years we have due to the last few years we have production, but all year production, experienced. In order to somewhat enlighten you as to the necessary details which enter into a true breeding program and to place you in a position where by you can more readily analyze the facts, from the ballyhoo you see and hear. I beg to be permitted to quote few of the following details, all of which must be carefully planned

At the outset let me say that we simply with individuals. In other words we mus be able, through selection, to analyze the dominance of the good characteristics and eliminate, so far as possible, any reversions to those poor qualities we must rid our birds

Therefore, I again stress the fact 1933 267 (111)25.0 that the prime essential is to breed from bird families First, those which have proven to

An Unfair Penalty

By BROOKE PETERS CHURCH Sam's school reports were uniformly bad, and his father decided that pressure would have to be put on the boy to make him work.

After some thought he deducted a certain amount from Sam's allowance for every poor mark. Sam resented the penalty, and rightly. The offense had nothing to do with the punishment.

Once a child's allowance has been given to him it should be his-a fixed amount on which he can count, and which he can spend as he likes.

The stipuation may be made when it is first given that certain reguample, the child may be told that the allowance is expected to cover car fare or trips to the movies, or neckties or stockings.

But if the child prefers to walk and save his pennies for something that he wants, the family should not object, provided the walking does not over-tire the child or make him late for school or other necessary appointments.

One of the chief objects of an allowance is to teach a child to use money, and to use it with foresight. But if he does not know from month to month or week to week how much he can count upon, he cannot look shead with any certainty, and budgeting become impossible.

The best form of penalty for poor school work is one which has some bearing on the fault.

Attendance at the movies can be cut down on the grounds that it interferes with sleep and so with school work. Visits, football or baseball games, all extra-curricular activities, can be limited until the child learns the importance of his school work

The justice of such punishments can be explained to him.

"It was wonderfully good of Reddy Fox to come away over here just to tell me about those carrots," thought Jerry. "and to invite me to go with certainly must. He-"

Jerry stopped right there and suddealy sat up very straight while a pulled his whiskers thoughtfully, and the look on his face grew still funnier. "I wonder," said Jerry, very softly, talking to himself, "I wonder if he was and not my stemach that put the idea of carrots into his head. Nothing would give him more pleasure than to show me the way-inside his stomach! Perhaps I'm not fair to you, Reddy Fox, but I can't afford to take any chances. I'm going to start for that ing them away from the girlhood congress in Ithaca. At a certain place a little ditch came into it, a ditch which had been dug to drain off the water from the Green Meadows in the spring. The grass grew long on both sides and hung over the little ditch. was now quite dry, and ran along it, keeping as much under the grass as he could. It led straight in the direction of Farmer Brown's cornfield, on one side of which were rows and rows of delicious carrots, according to Reddy

It was a long way to the end of that ditch. Anyway, it was long to Jerry Muskrat, who does little traveling on land. It was a real journey for Jerry. When he reached the end of the ditch he came to another ditch going crosswise. He turned down this a little way and then very carefully climbed up the bank until he could peep over. He was now almost on the edge of the cornfield, the very side where Reddy had said the carrots were.

Everyone Should Drink Hot Water in the Morning

Wash away all the stomach, liver and bowel poisons before breakfast

To feel your best day in and day out, to feel clean inside; no sour bile to coat your tongue and sicken your breath or dull your head; no constipation, bilious attacks, sick headache, colds, rheumatism or gassy, acid stomach, you must on the inside like you bathe outside. This is vastly more imporant, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do, says a well-known physician.

To keep these poisons and toxing well flushed from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, drink before breakfast each day, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This will cleanse, purify and freshen the entire alimentary tract, before putting more food into the stomach.

Get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from your pharmacist. It is inexpensive and almost tasteless, except a sourish tang which not unpleasant. Drink phosthated hot water every morning to me your system of these vile poisons and toxins; also to prevent their formation.

To feel like young folks feel; like you felt before your blood, nerves and muscles became saturated with an accumulation of body poisons, begin this treatment and above all keep it up! As soap and hot water act on the skin, cleansing, sweetening and purifying, so limestone phosphate and hot water before breakfast,

"Show Post," masical that threatens to become classic, was already in production as a scient film when the talates reared in, and it was released, part silent, part talking, and whilly unsatisfactory. Will The Public Rebel?

Old pictures in new dress-even fairly recent talkies—can be successful, too. One of Joe E. Brown's best comedies was "Elmer The Great," and it didn't seem to suffer from the fact that Jack Oakie had played the same role in the same story, under the title "Fast company," just a year or so before.

It all may become a new "trend," and, provided the public doesn't rehel, think what a saving in story cests could be effected by compa-nies that already have bought the talkie rights to an old yarn-unless. of course, authors demand remuneration for "second talkie rights."

> And, just because it is Tilden's troupe for whom Vines has contracted to play, don't ever suspect that Bill might feel inclined to do a little "business," to make the opening match look good with an eye to future receipts on the read. Bill its fen't built that way. If he is capable of beating Vines in straight sets you can wager the old homestend mortgages and all, that he will do exact ly that.

It's An Obsession

As a matter of fact, I've often suspected that Tilden retained a little too much of the old amateur spirit for his own welfare as a tennis professional. Somehow, when Bill gets a tennis racket in his hand he seems to become possessed with the idea of licking the socks off some one. I fear he wouldn't last five minutes in, say, the wrestling game. He wouldn't be understood.

I remember his ballyhooed first pro match against Vincent Richards at the Garden a couple of winters ago. Vinnie had taken the plunge some years before, and in the mean-Score at end of first half-Z. N. P. time hadn't hesitated to express the opinion that he or a half-dozen brother money players could make short work of the best of the amateurs. Tilden included.

Big Bill seethed, and by the time he did decide to turn pro and terminate his long-standing debate with On Week's Program the U. S. L. T. A., he was completely fed up with Richards' remarks. GRAPHIC GOLF

KEEPING THE CHIN BACK ONE trouble with the advice "keep the chin back" is that many golfers who attempt to carry out this procedure to the letter find their whole swing tied up. Still it is one of the fundamentals of good golf and the average player should take measures to carry it out and still manage a free swing. Walter Hagen, above, portrays a good example of a golfer who can accomplish this and swing with no sign of fautness. It is just such an example as this that shows how Hagen really achieved his golfing greatness. Perhaps to more than anything else Hagen owes his success to his ability to relax in any and all conditions. In this case he is allowing the body to turn independently of the head, the head being held back as the anchor of the swing

Not every one will find Hagen's case in doing this but at least certain precautious will aid immeasurably. In the first place the golfer should concentrate more on the correct swing than on where the ball is likely to hand, and then try to eliminate hurry C. 1933. Bell Simblente. - WNI Service

Pill rum disease, or bacillary were diarries, can be removed from porice focks only by the testing of disease. fixths and the removal of inferre birds, says Dr. C. C. Ellis of the New York State College of Veterinary Med. feine. Since the disease is transmit ted through the egg, the testing of the freeling stock and the removal of a infected breeders, he points out, should be the first step in control.

The blood test, he says, is the only reliable method now in use for detail. ing the disease. This test consists of ollecting a sample of blood from each bird and having it examined in a posttry-disease laboratory. An chickens and turkers on the premises should be tested annually and more often if possible, he says Two or three tests before the breeding season, he points out, will result in more rapid control. The reactors should be removed at once and the poultry house and equipment thoroughly disinfected after their removal.

Other precautions are: Thorough! holl all eggs which are fed to the birds; buy eggs and chicks from tested flocks only and rear them separately until they can be tested; quarantine all birds purchased, or returning from shows, and test them before placing them in the pens.

Oyster Shells, Limestone

Needed in Poultry House Nature not having equipped birds with teeth with which to grind their food, this process of mastication is an complished in the gizzard by muscula: action. Hard, sharp grit is used to grind the food into small particles. The harder and sharper it is, the better, and it should be before the birds at all times. If it is soluble and contains carbonate of lime, it is all the more valuable. Grit can be easily tested for lime carbonate content and its solubility by putting some of it in a cup and filling the cup with vinegar (acetic acid.) If it is a lime carbonate grit. bubbles will rise and a slight hissing noise will be heard. This means that the gastric juices, which are acid, but not so much so as rinegar, will have some effect on the grit and that lime will be available for the food of the bird. Lime is of great Importance, especially in feeding laying hens, as the shell of an egg is composed almost entirely of lime. Grains are rather deficient in this material and if birds are confined it is very essential to supply it in the form of oyster shells, lime stone grit or ground bone.

The Pekin Duck

The origin of the l'ekin duck is an known, but it was discovered in China in a fair state of development. This breed was imported into England and the United States about the year 1870 and has been widely distributed over the civilized world since then. Crosse were made with Aylesbury ducks to increase the size, improve table qualities and add vigor to the strain. The standard l'ekin of today is the re suit. The Pekin has a moderately up right carriage with round, plump, ful breast and body. The rear part of the abdomen is rather flat, having the appearance, especially in the female of having been pressed up by a mo and held there. The main tail feathers of both male and female have tendency to turn up at the points The bill, shanks and feet are a deep yellow or orange and free from dark markings.

Poultry Gleanings

More than 5,000 capons were fed b the 183 members of 28 4-H capon clubs in Pennsylvania during 1933. Since this project was started in 1929. there have been 56 clubs organized with 386 members.

Paisley Shawl Town Is

Near Glasgow, Scotland Palaley is the name of a manufacturing town in the neighborhood of Glasgow in Scotland. While it is a very ancient town, its fame in the world rests largely upon the fact that it was during the Nineteenth century the original and principal center of the manufacture of the famous shawls.

Paisley has been a textile town for more than 200 years, and some of its old streets commemorate in quaint names the fact that the industry has long been domiciled there—there are Lawn, Gauze, Incle, Cotton, Silk. Thread and Shuttle streets.

The shawl was introduced to European and American use from the east. a curious minor consequence of the French invasion of Egypt in 1796. Officers of the European armies contesting in that country sent home to their ladies some of the fine Turkish and indian shawls of the Egyptian bazars. These set a fashion, and shawls began to be made in Europe to meet the de-ಬಾಸಾರೆ.

Paleley took up their manufacture. tee. The article which became known as the Palsier shawl was of what was called "harness work" and was an attempt to produce in the loom the effects which in the Indian cashmere shinds were produced by the needle.

Palsley workmanship was so good and Paister merchandising no success ful that the manufacture of shawls rese rapidly to the point where, about 1585, the fown was forming out shawle to the value of 1,000,000 pounds a year.
